Exchanging readings in the group

Why do Exchanges?

WELCOME TO YOUR TEMPLATE FOR DOING EXCHANGES IN TAROT MASTERY!

I created this template to help you get the BEST experience while giving exchanges and building up your confidence as a tarot reader.

I LOVE exchanges while you are learning Tarot- for me they are a beautiful way to not only get help yourself in improving your readings- but help someone else improve their readings

I wouldn't be where I am today without exchanges- and I hugely encourage you to do them as much as possible while you are getting started (especially if you want to be a professional reader)

However....

It can be confusing when you get started because there are many things to consider BEFORE an exchange begins.

I am hoping this template will help you get a better understanding of the most beneficial way to conduct an exchange reading and bring you loads of positive exchanges within the group!

I suggest reading through it carefully- it contains suggestions on how to prepare for an exchange - and how to ensure the communication process is smooth between both parties.

Getting Started

1. Make a Decision about who will go first.
2. Decide before exchange takes place what date the exchange needs to be completed by
3. Agree very clearly about WHAT is being exchanged?

Is it a 3 card reading? A horseshoe reading? A celtic Cross?

This gives each party an idea of how LONG each person will spend on the exchange.

This is very important so that both parties feel like they are getting an equal balance in the exchange.

Get clear on where you are at

Before you begin an exchange identify WHERE YOU ARE AT with your tarot journey.

Are you a complete beginner? (most people in the group are so that is totally ok!)

Is Tarot Card Success your only Tarot study or have you also done some of my more advanced Tarot courses like Love Readings; Give Psychic Love Readings with Ease or How to Give Career Readings and Life Purpose Readings?

Everyone in the group will be at a different stage- (including a different part of the course) so it helps to know from the start where both parties are at & COMMUNICATE this with your partner as soon as you establish contact. .

What type of question?

Knowing where your partner is at can also help determine the type of question you can ask THEM.

Tarot Card Success is a foundation course well suited for beginners & those who struggle to understand Tarot. At the beginner level it's best to stick to questions like 'What do I need to know about this situation?' (name the situation)

If you have a more advanced question like 'Will we get back together?' or 'When will I get married?' or 'Should I leave my job?' it's best to save such questions for partners who've done the more advanced courses to avoid putting too much pressure on your partner.

And if you are a beginner & feeling nervous- tell your partner that you need questions that are taught in the course.

Additional considerations...

HOW will this exchange be delivered; Zoom? Audio? Messenger? Email.

I advise delivering by the same medium if possible. (that way both parties can be confident they have spend a similar amount of time- HOWEVER...

if both parties want to do it differently - that is fine too- just be aware of how the other party will deliver their reading.

Are you both willing to offer feedback to each other? (I suggest doing this as it will improve both of your readings)

Further contact?

For me it's totally ok to mention to the person you are exchanging with AFTER you have delivered your reading if you have a social media channel and ask if they would be open to supporting each others social media

HOWEVER...please do not spam or reach out to the person you have exchanged with without their permission

Enjoy your exchanges!
Love,

Sal Jade
